

Tornado Recovery: Keep in Touch, Stay on Track

FEMA continues to help residents recover from the March 24-25 tornadoes. Keep these points in mind to help your recovery stay on track.

Stay in Touch with FEMA

- If your address or phone number changes at any time since you applied, let FEMA know immediately by logging into your account at DisasterAssistance.gov or calling the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362.
 - If you use a relay service such as Video Relay Service (VRS), captioned telephone service or others, give FEMA your number for that service.
 - Helpline operators speak many languages and lines are open from 6 a.m. to midnight Central Time daily. Press 2 for Spanish. Press 3 for an interpreter who speaks your language.

Continued Rental Assistance

- Survivors could be eligible for continued rental assistance for temporary housing if suitable housing is not available or you haven't completed a permanent housing plan.
- Call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362. and ask for a Declaration of Continuing Need for Rental Assistance.
- Applicants should submit the following with the completed application:
 - Documents showing pre- and post-disaster income for household members 18 and older.
 - Documents showing proof of pre-disaster housing costs (copies of lease and utility bills, mortgage statements, real estate taxes, etc.).

How Do I Send Documents to FEMA?

- Upload them online:
 - Visit DisasterAssistance.gov
 - Select “check status”
 - Log in, or create your account
 - Select the “correspondence” tab
 - Select “upload center”
- Send them by mail to this address:
 - FEMA
 - P.O. Box 10055
 - Hyattsville, MD 20782-8055

Do you have unmet needs from the disaster?

- Call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362 for referrals to disaster-specific resources in your area.

FEMA

To Appeal FEMA's Decisions

- If you disagree with FEMA's decision, you can appeal. Every survivor has the right to appeal. If you think FEMA's decision on the amount of assistance, or the type of assistance, is wrong, send an appeal letter along with any documents needed to support your claim.
- You have 60 days after receiving a determination letter to send your appeal, which is a written request to review your application. In your dated and signed appeal letter, explain why you disagree with FEMA's decision.
- Be sure to include the following:
 - Applicant's full name, current address and damaged dwelling address
 - Applicant's nine-digit FEMA registration number on every page (That number can be found at the top of the determination letter.)
 - FEMA's disaster declaration number: DR-4697-MS
 - Applicant's signature and the date
- For questions about writing your appeal letter, call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362.

Disaster Loans

- The May 25 deadline has passed for homeowners, renters, nonprofits and businesses to apply for a low-interest loans to help recover from physical losses. However, under some specific circumstances, you may still be able to apply with the Small Business Administration.
- For information, visit DisasterLoanAssistance.sba.gov/, call SBA's Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955 or email DisasterCustomerService@sba.gov.
- For economic injury disaster loans, the last day for small businesses, agricultural cooperatives, aquaculture enterprises and most private nonprofit organizations to apply is Dec. 26, 2023.

If You Missed FEMA's Application Deadline

- FEMA may consider a late application if extraordinary circumstances kept you from applying during the March 26 through May 25 application period. FEMA will consider late applications through July 25.
- You will need to provide a signed letter explaining why you missed the deadline. You also will need to provide documentation showing proof of medical or disability issues, death of an immediate family member, or other disaster-specific circumstances.

For the latest information on recovery, visit March 24 2023 Severe Weather Disaster Information - MEMA \(msema.org\) and www.fema.gov/disaster/4697. On Twitter follow MEMA @MSEMA and FEMA Region 4 @femaregion4.

FEMA's mission is helping people before, during, and after disasters.

All FEMA disaster assistance will be provided without discrimination on the grounds of race, color, sex (including sexual harassment), sexual orientation, religion, national origin, age, disability, limited English proficiency, economic status. If you believe your civil rights are being violated, you can call the Civil Rights Resource line at 833-285-7448. Multilingual operators are available (press 2 for Spanish). If you use a Video Relay Service (VRS), captioned telephone service or others, give FEMA your number for that service.